

Letter from the New Editor

Dear Colleagues,

I'd like to thank the members of the Summa Foundation Board for entrusting me with the editorship of the notes series. I'd also like to thank my predecessors, Bob Gardner and Dave Giri, for their great work. And of course, special thanks to Carl Baum for editing the series for over four decades.

The Summa Foundation notes provide a unique forum for the publication of research related to High-Power Electromagnetics. New notes can be submitted to me at Everett G. Farr.

We've made a few changes around here we think you'll like. First, we will speed up posting of new notes online. This will be followed quickly by an email announcement of the new note, with a hotlink to the new note. So there will no longer be a need for postcards. By posting your notes closer to real time, we hope you'll find this an even more attractive forum for publishing your research.

We want to maintain as complete an email list as possible. If someone would like to be added to our list, or if there is a change in email address, please contact Chuck Reuben at shawnee@unm.edu.

We hope you like the new format. See you in London on 11 – 15 July 2016!
The abstract deadline is 11 January 2016.
