

Global Electromagnetics 2024 Symposium (July 14-19, 2024) Austin, Texas USA

The next GlobalEM Symposium will be held in Austin, Texas, USA. As indicated at our last Symposium in Abu Dhabi, UAE, our high power EM Symposia have been renamed from the previous AMEREM, EUROEM, ASIAEM to have a consistent name from year to year. As in the past, we provide a forum within the international scientific and engineering communities to discuss different aspects of High-Power Electromagnetics. Internationally renowned experts from many countries are expected to participate.

AWARDS

SUMMA Foundation, the sponsor of this series of symposia, will announce awards for the best HPEM notes published since the last symposia, and it is expected that best paper awards will also be presented at the symposium.

GENERAL INFORMATION

This conference is organized by the SUMMA Foundation. The working language of the conference is English. There will be a technical exhibition during the week, a Welcome Reception on the evening of Sunday, 14 July, a Gala Dinner on Wednesday, 17 July, and a technical visit to ETS-Lindgren on Friday, 19 July.

CONFERENCE LOCATION

This conference will be held in Downtown, Austin, Texas, at the AT&T Conference Center, which includes hotel guest rooms. The conference center is close to the Austin-Bergstrom International Airport. Details concerning the registration process and hotel guest room reservations will be provided once the website is up and operating.

PAPER SUBMISSION

We will require only a single page extended abstract in a US Letter size paper with 2-column format. Paper submissions and reviews will be handled on-line using OpenConf software. Every paper will be reviewed and advocated by TC/SS Chairs. Additional details will be provided on the website including the topics of interest for this conference.

SPONSORSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

We welcome sponsors for GlobalEM 2024. Sponsors will be recognized by logos added to the GlobalEM 2024 website with a link to their company website, a company advertisement in the abstract book, and advertisements provided during the conference. Please contact the General Chair for details.
